

Concrete Studio Trading Limited (In Liquidation)
Lot 1

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 17
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Scenes from the King's Road

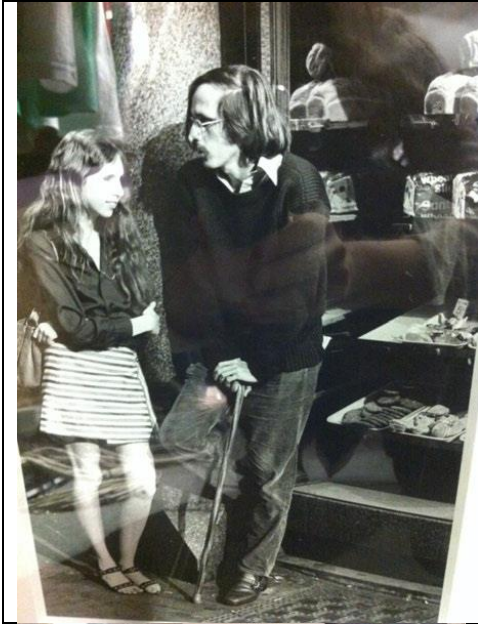

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 18
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Scenes from the King's Road

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 19
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Girl in a short fur coat with a large dog on the ice and slush.
Shortly after taking this picture, I had a rendezvous with Anne Anable of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, in the King's Road. She found me standing up to my ankles in a pool of melted slush in the gutter. I had become so interested in taking the pictures that I hadn't noticed that my shoes and socks were totally soaked and ruined. She insisted that I go to the nearest shoe shop to buy a new pair of shoes and also a new pair of socks before we both carried on working.

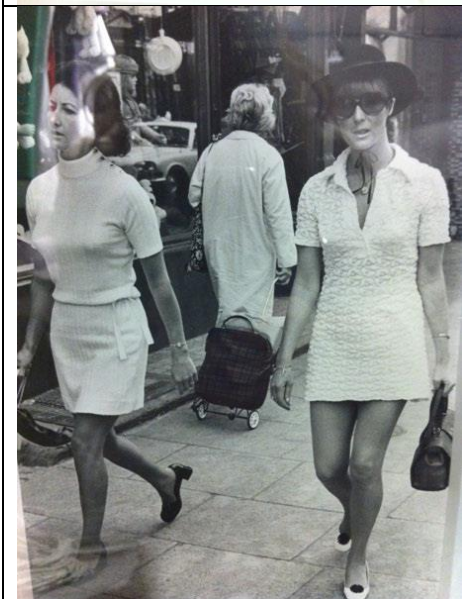

Concrete Studio Trading Limited (In Liquidation)
Lot 1

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 20
Photographer: Harold Chapman
People in the King's Road

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 21
Photographer: Harold Chapman
People in the King's Road

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 22
Photographer: Harold Chapman
People in the King's Road

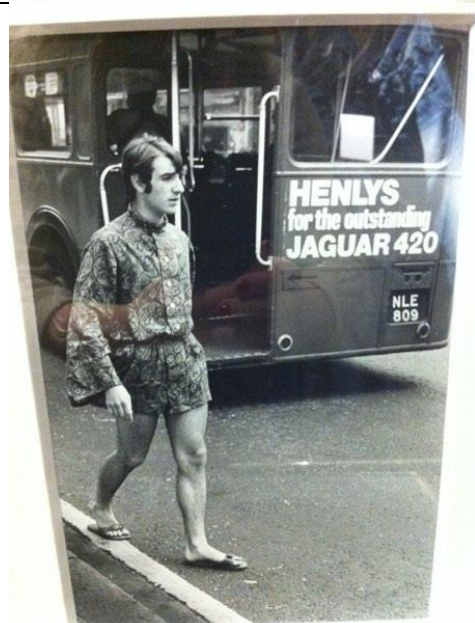

Concrete Studio Trading Limited (In Liquidation)
Lot 1

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 23
Photographer: Harold Chapman
City Girl underwear

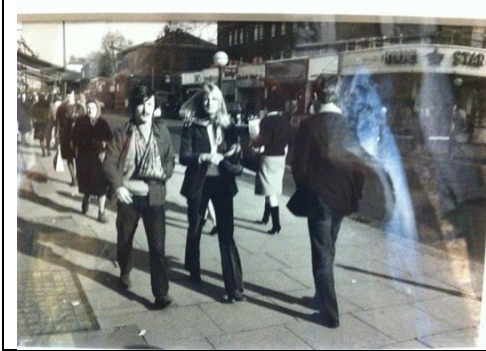

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 24
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Man passing Sketchley's the dry cleaners
"Miniskirts cleaned 2d an inch". Pictures from this series have been widely published in books and magazines.

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 25
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Man in psychedelic mini dress and sandals crossing the road behind a bus advertising
"Henlys for the outstanding Jaguar 420".

Concrete Studio Trading Limited (In Liquidation)
Lot 1

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 26
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Scenes from the King's Road

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 27
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Scenes from the King's Road

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 28
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Scenes from the King's Road

Concrete Studio Trading Limited (In Liquidation)
Lot 1

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 29
Photographer: Harold Chapman
In side Antiquarius, the so-called antique market. When working the King's Road, I used to drop in to Antiquarius where Cyclops Lester had an antique book stall. He used to live in the Beat Hotel, rue Git-le-Cœur, Paris.

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 30
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Chelsea Pensioners. The picture of the bearded Chelsea Pensioner rushing across the zebra crossing clutching an attaché case, was the favourite picture of Anne Anable's of the Cleveland Plain Dealer that I had taken of the King's Road, and was pinned up in her office of the newspaper in Cleveland, USA

Estimated Value: £150
Number: 31
Photographer: Harold Chapman
Chelsea Pensioners. The picture of the bearded Chelsea Pensioner rushing across the zebra crossing clutching an attaché case, was the favourite picture of Anne Anable's of the Cleveland Plain Dealer that I had taken of the King's Road, and was pinned up in her office of the newspaper in Cleveland, USA